

Ready for Business is funded by the Scottish Government to work with public sector commissioners and procurement teams to raise awareness of the role the Third Sector can play in the delivery of public services.

We support the adoption of social value in commissioning through the use of tools such as the Public Social Partnership (PSP) model and Community Benefit Clauses.

Our programme provides free support in the following areas -

1. Facilitated events where commissioners and procurement teams can meet leading third sector organisations through our unique Partners for Change programme
2. One-to-one consultancy support or workshops on a variety of topics including -

Social value in commissioning

Engaging with the Third Sector

Using the Public Social Partnership model

Applying Community Benefit Clauses

3. Legal advice from procurement lawyers
4. Access to online tools and resources
